Believes Horses Get Better Chance and Hopes All Tracks Will Adopt System. The distance of this race is a bit beyond many of these sprinters, and for that reason Col. Bill, who is at his best just now, should get home. Rostand's second to Astarita at Brighton showed that he was a sprinter, and he should beat Irene Landsey for the place. The writer will pass this bunch along. Half a dozen have an equal chance, and there are a lot of new ones going to the post for the first time.

Mr. Whitney accompanied Starter Cassidy over to the post at bugle call for the second race and watched him send the horses off. When Mr. Whitney returned to the judges' stand he said.

"It is a great improvement over a standing start. Under Mr. Cassidy's method all the horses are in motion when the barrier is released and they sheepshead Bay.

style."

Mr. Whitney says he will sell all his racehorses in England. Among the list is the American-bred two-year-old colt Hands Around, by Meddler—Handspun. This youngster finished third in the Middle Park Plate, a race for all aged horses. His showing was so good he will be made one of the choices in the betting on next season's Derby. Inflexible, the best two-year-old Mr. Whitney had during the summer and which was "cut down" at Saratoga, has recovered and will join the string at Sheepshead Bay.
